When the Royal Body was set down in that Chapel, the Gentlemen Pensioners, who had marched by it, recovered their Axes, and stood on each Side of the Body in the same Order in which they had marched; and the remaining Part of the Band, led by the Clerk of the Cheque, drew up in one Rank just within the Door of the Chapel, facing the Tomb of King Henry VII. When the Procession returned, the twenty Gentlemen Pensioners, who had marched on each Side the Body to the Chapel, marched on each Side of the Chief Mourner, her Supporters and Assistants with their Axes erect, and the Lieutenant and Standard-Bearer at their Head, in a Line with the Chief Mourner; the Captain marching immediately behind the Chief Mourner on the Right of her Train: The remaining Part of the Band, under the Clerk of the Cheque, marching immediately behind her late Majesty's Bed-Chamber Women, and before the Yeomen of the Guard, two a Breast, in the same Order they marched to the Chapel.

During the whole Solemnity, the great Bells of the Cathedral of St. Paul and of many Churches in London and Westminster, were tolled. And the Tower Guns kept firing all the while, at a Minute's Distance between each.

Whitehall, December 24.

The following Addreſſes having been tranſmitted by his Grace the Duke of Devonſhire Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, to his Grace the Duke of Newcaſtle, one of his Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, have by him been preſented to his Majeſty; who was pleaſed to receive them very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to condole with your Majeſty in the deepeſt Sorrow, on the Death of your Royal Conſort.

Her late Majeſty's Wiſdom, Goodneſs, and extenſive Knowledge, will perpetuate and diſtinguiſh her Name to all future Ages; and her firm Adherence to the true Reformed Religion, will make her Memory to be for ever honoured by all Proteſtants.

As the Conſtitution eſtabliſhed upon the Principles of the late happy Revolution, was always the Object of her Eſteem and Affection; ſo was it always the ſteady Rule of her Actions, when ſhe exerciſed the Authority delegated by your Majeſty; and her Behaviour on thoſe Occaſions, ſhewed that ſhe highly deſerved to be the Partner of your publick, as well as private Cares.

That the Divine Providence may ſupport and comfort your Majeſty; and that the long Continuance of your ineſtimable Life, may repair this Univerſal Loſs, are the united and fervent Prayers of us, and of all your Majeſty's faithful and loyal Subjects.

En. Sterne, Cler' Parliamentor'

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE Your Majeſty's moſt Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, do humbly beg Leave, with Hearts full of Sorrow, to condole with You on the irreparable Loſs which Your Majeſty and Your Kingdoms have ſuſtained by the Death of our moſt Excellent Queen Your Royal Conſort.

It is our earneſt Prayer, that Your Majeſty may not be too deeply affected by this Misfortune, but may long continue to reign in Health and Proſperity, to the Comfort and Welfare of Your People; and we ſhall on all Occaſions be ready to give the moſt convincing Proofs of our inviolable Attachment to Your Majeſty's Perſon, and of our firm Reſolution to do every Thing in our Power to make Your Government eaſy and honourable.

Vienna, Dec. 18, N. S. It is now declared, that the Grand Duke will have the Command of the Army in Hungary the next Campaign, and be made the Emperor's Lieutenant General in the ſame Manner, and with the ſame Prerogatives as the late Prince Eugene of Savoy enjoyed, and that the Marſhals Konigſegg and Aremberg will command under him. His Royal Highneſs's Journey to Tuſcany is certainly put off till after the next Campaign; in order to his forwarding, by his Preſence here, the neceſſary Diſpoſitions for it.
